From 15 Aug to 17 Sep this year, our NUSC athletes rose to the occasion and represented NUSC across 19 sports in the Inter-Faculty Games, where students representing their home faculties gather to play their hearts out in search of glory.

Through late-night drills, weekend training, and countless hours spent in pursuit of continuous improvement, NUSC athletes defined tenacity on the field. With sheer passion and grit, we clawed our way through IFG to finish top 4 in 7 different sports!

Thank you to all our athletes for their commitment and hard work, and let's continue to achieve greater heights during ICG!

O'Week

It feels like just yesterday since we welcomed a new generation of students to NUSC.

Settling into a new environment, meeting new friends for life and embarking on a quest to save their COHOs (Chief Onboarding House Officers); the Y1s did all that and more in O'Week '25!

O'Week '25 consisted of 4 days packed with fun-filled games...

such as AmongNUSC and informative workshops that served to help Y1s acclimatise to university and residential life at NUSC.

Throughout O'Week, Y1s got to meet their new neighbours through a picnic in the courtyards, meet their peer mentors to find out more about academic life in NUSC, as well as engage with their houses through uniquely crafted house OTOT activities.

On the final day, Y1s brought home an unforgettable souvenir in "You Rock!", providing an

'EYE' for their O'Week memories.

It all culminated in a dazzling .

FINALE NIGHT

where the Y1s took to the stage in joyous celebration! May Ollie be with them in their NUSC journey!

Start OF Semester DINNER

Did you miss your summer vacation, lying down on the beach enjoying the sunshine and the sound of the crashing waves? Well, not to worry because for one night only, we brought the party to NUSC!

With SOSD being the first major event of the school year, and the first ever for our Year 1s, everyone looked forward eagerly to the festivities! Everyone showed up in their best Hawaiian shirts and sundresses, ready to party in the warm summer night.

Shoutout to Uniqlo - I saw several people wearing the same Uniqlo shirt, and I'm guessing it was not coordinated.

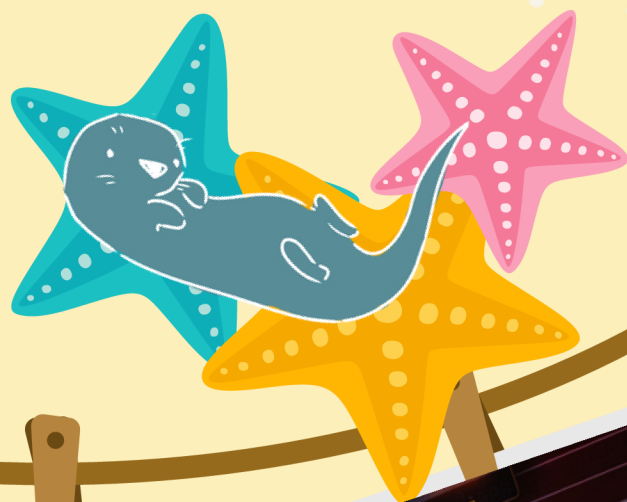

After a delightful dinner, the NUSC community descended on the MPH to party and to have fun; our talented performers impressed the crowd with their jaw-dropping moves and sweet velvety voices, and the students partied like it was 3012 that night!

And with that, we officially closed the summer, and opened the chapter to a new semester.

HALLOWESTWING

Shhhhh. Keep quiet!
You never know what's lurking around the corner! Follow me as I take you on a journey around NUSC on Halloween.

This year, we had not one,
not two, but three different
Halloween events.

Coming up first is HalloWestWing, organised by our RA team. Time to go around Trick or Treating, I hope you brought your A-game because you will need your excellent skills to win treats. If you're tired, go enjoy some drinks and snacks, I heard that there are creampuffs!

Once you're done, meet me at the MPH for our next adventure!

RC Horror Night

Up next, we have our annual RC Horror Night (RCHN). Listen to me carefully and follow my instructions. The MPH will be pitch black, so stay close and hold on!

Don't let them scare you too much, I'm sure they're nice ghouls, a bit disturbed maybe, but hey, let's look on the bright side! Just walk through together!

That wasn't so bad was it?

Houses' HALLOWEEN EVENT

Ok we are at our final stop now, the Houses' Halloween
Event.

We are out of the danger zone
now; I think the spirits have passed us by.

Come join for some food and drinks, and fun
and games, I hope you brought your costume with you because the party is going to be absolutely lit!

ARTOBER

All aboard!!

"Dear passengers, strap in for an art-venture of a lifetime..."

This October, the annual month dedicated to celebrating and appreciating art took students on a "depARTure" from routine life to a journey of craft, expression, and exploration of the arts! With a creative vision and Artober passport in hand, artists of NUSC got the opportunity to put their talents into practice or dabble in new art forms.

We started the journey off with a cardholder and stamp-making session. From there on, each destination featured a new interesting theme and activity, some classic and some unique. The passengers dabbled in ketupat weaving, cyanotyping, scrapbooking, and quilling.

ARTOBER

All aboard!!

They sang and danced, sculpted and snapped photos,

flew paper planes, and everything in between!

The craft fair by Makers Alley embraced the spooky spirit with Halloween just around the corner. When the voyage ended, at the closing event, the artists' hearts were content with their own shrink charm creations and their thirsts were quenched by BrewCaff's autumn-inspired creations.

Paper, clothes, gingerbread, or the ears of the NUSC community- anything and everything could be a canvas this Artober. It gave students a chance to unwind and escape from stress with a vacation from academics. Chill music, good vibes, snacks, and a welcoming atmosphere for everyone, whether a new artist or a master of their craft, were what made this a month to remember.

End-Of-Sem Dinner

Remember how we danced at The Gatsby Gala!

As the clock struck 6pm, NUSC came alive as students descended upon the dining halls, decked out in the glamour and pomp befitting a Great Gatsby theme – what a sight to behold.

It was the perfect opportunity to pull out the prom dresses and formal suits that had been collecting dust in the back of our closets.

This End of Semester Dinner (EOSD) was off to a splendid start with a delectable dinner and dessert.

Smiles at the EOSD photobooth

The chicken was tender, the fish well-seasoned and the cake perfectly sweet... It was a fancy feast like no other.

But now it was time for the real party and everyone strolled down to the MPH. Illuminated by strobe lights and immersed in fog smoke, the atmosphere of the MPH was electric.

(Non-alcoholic) drink in hand, the party attendees gathered around the stage ready to be dazzled by our incredibly talented performers.

From jamming out to English and Japanese pop songs to dancing to the beat of Tate McRae's "It's ok I'm ok", the musicians and dancers of NUSC did not fail to put on an amazing show.

And with one final act, the night comes to an end and the curtains are drawn. But fret not, for the party is never really over. We hope you are as excited as us for what is to come next semester. See you then!
